SAIL Spotlight

Celebrating Dylan's Amazing Artwork

We are fortunate to have a talented artist like Dylan (Dolphin Class), whose incredible drawings bring beloved characters to life. We're lucky to have Dylan share his artwork with us, and we can't wait to see what exciting new scenes and characters he'll bring to life next!

Jack's Thrive Artwork

Jack (Turtles Class) created this artwork during his Thrive session. Jack says this is a representation of his ADHD brain. "It's quite random, with added glitter for sparkle. It's sometimes crazy and sometimes calm." He enjoyed making it!

SAIL Spotlight

Lewis organized a highly successful Children in Need event, combining a cozy movie session with fun colouring activities, all aimed at raising awareness and supporting the charity. In addition to his charity work, Lewis led an informative firework safety campaign during the build-up to Bonfire Night. He delivered a well-researched presentation, teaching his peers the importance of staying safe around fireworks. Lewis's dedication to both social causes and safety education has inspired his classmates and made a positive impact on his community.

WOLT Days are the best days!

This term Learning Outside the Classroom (LOT) has been focusing on map reading skills, axe throwing, safe tool usage (knives, axes, saws and power drills) and for some mountain biking / bike riding. One of the high points this term was finding the old WW2 bunker near Chibden Bottom and having the chance to explore it in the pitch dark. One group even experienced a small snow blizzard (well – it felt that way!) It has been amazing seeing the pupils develop their various skills, push through many of their comfort zones and 'level up'.

Wiltshire Scrap Store Visit

During Recycling Week, the Wiltshire Scrap Store visited Sail-Academy to host a creative recycling workshop for students. The event was a great success, helping students learn about sustainability in a fun and interactive way. Everyone left inspired, with a deeper appreciation for recycling and creativity.

Inspire Life Skills

In the Inspire group, students have been focusing on essential life skills, learning everything from breakfast making to baking, cleaning, and following instructions. The students took part in hands-on activities, gaining practical experience in preparing meals, baking treats, and keeping their spaces tidy.

Anti-Bullying

This term saw the launch of SAIL's anti-bullying programme with each class nominating anti-bullying ambassadors. The ambassadors have been attending fortnightly meetings during which they have been learning about their role, undergoing training on what bullying behaviour is and isn't and they also enjoyed creating an anti-bullying pledge poster where they each wrote something about why they wanted to become an anti-bullying ambassador or what impact they would like to have on bullying behaviour. This poster will be displayed in the dining hall on our new anti-bullying notice board after the Christmas break.

Pupil Voice: "Ready, Respectful, Safe" Campaign

At our school, we believe that pupil voice plays a crucial role in shaping the way we learn and interact with each other. This year, our students have been at the forefront of implementing a new behaviour policy, designed to foster a positive and supportive school environment. Central to this policy is the Ready, Respectful, Safe campaign, a set of values that guide how we behave, treat others, and approach our learning.

Drama Workshop

Thank you to Mr Corson for leading a Drama Workshop. It was wonderful to learn the art of storytelling through movement!

Car Wash

Since the October half-term, secondary have started a car-washing service! Every Tuesday afternoon, some of our secondary pupils work together to wash the outside of cars that belong to staff members. We have even cleaned the school bus! Pupils have demonstrated some brilliant teamwork skills and communication skills. They have also shown that they can work responsibly and safely with tools and specialist equipment. Let Mr Taylor-Brown know if you would like your car cleaned!
